

Keith Brown El,
Vice-chair

Keith Brown El was incarcerated for 36 years in the Missouri Department of Corrections (from 1972-2005). After five months out on conditional release he was returned to confinement in 2006 on a bogus technical parole violation and then was released again in 2008.

During his confinement Keith was a jail-house attorney and an activist in many other causes. He continues his activism in Kansas City MO as director of an organization that advocates for homeless people and as a volunteer programmer for the Jaws of Justice show on KKFI community radio.
